DEBTOR'S MOTION FOR AN ORDER
APPROVING AGREEMENT OF PURCHASE AND SALE AND AUTHORIZING THE SALE OF THE DEBTOR'S INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY AND RELATED ASSETS FREE AND CLEAR OF INTERESTS THEREIN

Debtor and debtor-in-possession HydroGen, L.L.C. (the "Debtor"), by and through its undersigned counsel, hereby submits this motion (the "Motion"), pursuant to Bankruptcy Code sections 105 and 363 and Bankruptcy Rules 2002 and 6004, for an order approving an Agreement of Purchase and Sale, dated February 23, 2010 (the "PSA"), between the Debtor and Michael Casey or his corporate designee (the "Purchaser"), and authorizing the Debtor to sell its intellectual property and related assets to the Purchaser free and clear of any interests therein, and in support of the Motion respectfully represents as follows:

JURISDICTION

1. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. Venue of this case and this Motion in this District is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§

1408 and 1409. This is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2). The statutory predicates for the relief requested herein are Bankruptcy Code sections 105 and 363 and Bankruptcy Rules 2002 and 6004.

BACKGROUND

2. The Debtor's products used air-cooled phosphoric acid fuel cell technology developed and successfully tested by Westinghouse in the 1980s and early 1990s and funded in part by the Department of Energy in connection with its efforts to meet public demand for inexpensive, reliable, ultra-clean power generation.

3. This technology was maintained by Westinghouse as trade secrets and was transferred to the Debtor on an exclusive basis through intermediary owners.

4. The Debtor took steps to bring that technology to commercial viability, successfully demonstrating its 500 kW fuel cell power plant at a demonstration facility in Ashtabula, Ohio.

5. On October 22, 2008, the Debtor filed with this Court a voluntary petition for relief under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code.

6. On November 14, 2008, in an effort to sell all of its assets, the Debtor filed a motion for orders (A)(i) approving auction procedures and bidding protections (the "Procedures"), (ii) scheduling an auction, (iii) approving its form of asset purchase agreement, and (iv) scheduling a hearing to consider (a) approval of any sale(s) and (b) the assumption and assignment of executory contracts and unexpired leases; (B) approving the notice of the respective dates, times, and places for the auction and the sale hearing, respectively; (C) authorizing the sale(s) free and clear of all liens, claims, encumbrances, and other interests; (D) authorizing the assumption and assignment of the assumed contracts in connection with the sale(s) and the rejection of other executory contracts and unexpired leases; (E) authorizing it to consummate all transactions related to the above; and (F) granting such other relief as is fair and equitable.

7. On November 19, 2008, this Court entered an Order (the “Procedures Order”), among other things, approving the Procedures and scheduling a December 8, 2008 auction.

8. The Debtor marketed all of its assets, including its intellectual property, to potential purchasers, inviting them to bid on assets as a whole or piecemeal.

9. No party bid on the Debtor’s intellectual property, and the Debtor, in consultation with the agent for its secured lenders (the “Agent”) and the official committee of unsecured creditors (the “Committee”), canceled the auction, as allowed by the Procedures and the Procedures Order.

10. The Debtor has continued to market its intellectual property since the auction was cancelled, seeking both offers from potential purchasers and parties willing to assist with the sale of the intellectual property on a commissioned basis. A description of the Debtor’s intellectual property, which consists primarily of trade secrets, is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

11. On January 12, 2010, the Purchaser’s affiliate provided the Debtor with a $3,000 deposit toward the purchase of the debtor’s intellectual property and related assets.

12. On February 23, 2010, the Purchaser and the Debtor executed the PSA, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

13. The PSA provides for the sale of the Debtor’s intellectual property and certain other assets to the Purchaser for a purchase price of $12,000. Specifically, the PSA provides for the sale of all tangible and intangible assets of the Debtor (collectively, the “Purchased Assets”) including:

- (a) all intellectual property of any sort, including patents, patent applications; trade marks, trade names, logos, designs, formulas and licences;
- (b) all trade secrets;
- (c) the word “HydroGen” as part of a corporate name, trade name, logo, trade mark, brand or design;
- (d) the design, content, URL, domain name and all related or ancillary rights of the website at www.hydrogenllc.net; and
- (e) all remaining equipment, parts and inventory of any sort whatsoever.¹

14. Pursuant to the PSA, insurance policies and proceeds, rights to premium returns and other rights related thereto, and any and all causes of action and claims including, without limitation, those assigned to the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors and those set forth in Adversary Proceeding No. 09-01142 (AJG), are specifically excluded from the Purchased Assets. Moreover, the Debtor is allowed to maintain a copy of its hard drive for litigation purposes. In addition, the Purchaser may not destroy any Purchased Assets until the conclusion of Adversary Proceeding No. 09-01142 (AJG) and will produce any documents required to be produced in that action under applicable law, with the reasonable photocopying costs of producing such copies to be paid by the party requesting the copies.

RELIEF REQUESTED

15. By this Motion, the Debtor respectfully requests, pursuant to Bankruptcy Code sections 105 and 363 and Bankruptcy Rules 2002 and 6004, an order approving the PSA and authorizing the Debtor to sell the Purchased Assets to the Purchaser free and clear of any interests therein.

¹ The Debtor does not believe that it has any unexpired intellectual property licenses or owns any remaining equipment, parts, or inventory.

BASIS FOR RELIEF REQUESTED

16. Although the Bankruptcy Code does not specifically define the term “ordinary course,” bankruptcy courts in this district have established a two-part test to determine whether a proposed transaction is in the ordinary course of business:

In the first part of this test, the ‘vertical dimension’ test, a court analyzes the transaction ‘from the vantage point of a hypothetical creditor and inquires whether the transaction subjects a creditor to economic risks of a nature different from those [it] accepted’ when it initially contracted with the debtor. In the second part of the analysis, the ‘horizontal dimension’ test, the court must determine ‘whether the postpetition transaction is of a type that other similar businesses would engage in as ordinary business.’ Under this two-part analysis, ‘the touchstone of ‘ordinariness’ is thus the interested parties’ reasonable expectations of what transactions the debtor in possession is likely to enter in the course of its business.

In re Coordinated Apparel, Inc., 179 B.R. 40, 43 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 1995).

17. In this case, a hypothetical creditor would not expect the sale of all or a portion of the Purchased Assets. In addition, the sale would probably not be considered a usual and customary transaction for similar businesses within the Debtor’s industry. Therefore, in all likelihood, the sale would be considered outside of the ordinary course of business.

18. Under Bankruptcy Code section 363(b)(1), a debtor is required to provide a business justification for a proposed use and sale of property of the estate other than in the ordinary course of business. See, e.g., In re Lionel Corp., 722 F.2d 1063, 1070 (2d Cir. 1983) (“[T]here must be some articulated business justification . . . for using, selling or leasing property out of the ordinary course of business before the bankruptcy judge may order such disposition under section 363(b)’); In re Global Crossing Ltd., 295 B.R. 726, 742-44 (S.D.N.Y. 2003) (discussing business judgment rule in the context of 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)).

19. In this case, the Debtor submits that the decision to sell the Purchased Assets is based upon its sound business judgment and should be approved.

20. As described above, the Debtor has already conducted an exhaustive marketing campaign for sale of the Purchased Assets, which has now lasted over a year and a half. The Purchaser was the first party to make an offer for the Purchased Assets.

21. In addition, the Debtor has liquidated the majority of its assets and, at this juncture, has no use for the Purchased Assets in connection with any operations.

22. Moreover, the Debtor continues to incur storage costs with respect to certain of the Purchased Assets. The Purchaser has agreed to take possession of those assets at its expense.

23. For these reasons, among others, in the exercise of its reasonable business judgment, the Debtor has determined that the sale of the Purchased Assets pursuant to the PSA is the best means by which to maximize value for its creditors. Accordingly, the Debtor submits that the PSA should be approved and the Debtor should be authorized to sell the Purchased Assets to the Purchaser free and clear interests therein.

Sale Free and Clear of Interests

24. Pursuant to Bankruptcy Code section 363(f), a debtor-in-possession may sell property free and clear of interests in such property if one of the following conditions is satisfied:

applicable nonbankruptcy law permits the sale of such property free and clear of such interest;

the lienholder or claimholder consents;

such interest is a lien and the price at which such property is to be sold is greater than the aggregate value of all liens on such property;

such interest is in bona fide dispute; or the lienholder or claimholder could be compelled, in a legal or equitable proceeding, to accept a money satisfaction of such interest.

11 U.S.C. §§ 363(f).

25. The Debtor anticipates that any party claiming an interest (including a lien) in the Purchased Assets will consent to the sale because it maximizes the value thereof. In addition, all interests (including liens) in the Purchased Assets will be satisfied or will attach to the remaining net proceeds of the sale of the Purchased Assets with the same force, effect, and priority as such interests currently have in the Purchased Assets, subject to the rights and defenses, if any, of the Debtor and all interested parties (including the Committee) with respect thereto.

26. Moreover, if a holder of an interest receives the requisite notice of this Motion and does not object within the prescribed time period, such holder will be deemed to have consented to the proposed sale and the Purchased Assets may then be sold free and clear of such holder's interest. See, e.g., Veltman v. Whetzel, 93 F.3d 517 (8th Cir. 1996) (failure to object to proposed sale, coupled with agreement to stipulation on authorizing sale free of interest, constituted consent); Hargrave v. Pemberton (In re Tabore, Inc.), 175 B.R. 855 (Bankr. D. N.J. 1994) (failure to object to notice of sale or attend hearing deemed consent to sale for purposes of 363).

27. Accordingly, the Debtor submits that the sale of the Purchased Assets free and clear of interests satisfies the statutory requirements of Bankruptcy Code section 363(f).

The Debtor has Presented the Proposed Sale(s) in Good Faith

28. Section 363(m) provides that:

The reversal or modification on appeal of an authorization under [section 363(b) or (c)] of a sale or lease of property does not affect the validity of the sale or lease under such authorization to an entity that purchased or leased such property in good faith, whether or not such entity knew of the pendency of the appeal, unless such authorization and such sale or lease were stayed pending appeal.

11 U.S.C. § 363(m).

29. In this jurisdiction, a bankruptcy court is not required to make an explicit finding of good faith in order to authorize a sale under the Bankruptcy Code. See Harbison-Fischer Mfg. Co. v. Zinke (In re Zinke), 97 B.R. 155, 156 (E.D.N.Y. 1989) (finding that a duty to make an explicit finding of good faith before permitting a sale “has not been imposed by the Second Circuit or the United States Supreme Court”).

30. Although the Bankruptcy Code does not define the term “good faith purchaser,” courts interpreting section 363(m) have held that “to show lack of good faith [a party] must show fraud, collusion . . . or an attempt to take grossly unfair advantage of other bidders.” Marin v. Coated Sales, Inc. (In re Coated Sales, Inc.), 1990 WL 212899, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 13, 1990); see generally In re Colony Hill Associates, 111 F.3d 269 (2nd Cir. 1997) (stating that determination of “in good faith” is based upon traditional equitable principles, including whether there has been full disclosure to the bankruptcy court); see also In re Sasson Jeans, Inc., 90 B.R. 608, 610 (S.D.N.Y. 1988) (quoting In re Bel Air Assocs., Ltd., 706 F.2d 301, 305 (10th Cir. 1983)). Yet, because there is no bright line test, courts examine the facts of each case by concentrating on the “integrity of [an actor’s] conduct during the sale proceedings.” In re Pisces Leasing Corp., 66 B.R. 671, 673 (E.D.N.Y. 1986) (quoting In re Rock Indus. Machinery Corp., 572 F.2d 1195, 1198 (7th Cir. 1978)).

31. There is no evidence of fraud, collusion, or other impropriety in connection with the proposed sale. As indicated, the Debtor’s desire to sell the Purchased Assets is driven by a desire to maximize the value thereof.

32. Accordingly, the sale pursuant to the PSA has been proposed, and is, in good faith.

Request for Relief Under Bankruptcy Rule 6004(g)

33. Rule 6004(g) of the Bankruptcy Rules provides, in substance, that an order authorizing the sale of a debtor's property is stayed for a period of ten days after entry of the order unless the court orders otherwise.

34. In this case, the Debtor submits that it should be authorized to close and consummate the sale of the Purchased Assets immediately after entry of any order. Among other things, the PSA requires that closing occur on or before March 31, 2010.

NO PRIOR APPLICATION

35. Except as described herein, no previous motion for the relief sought herein has been made to this or any other Court.

WHEREFORE the Debtor respectfully requests that the Court enter an order, in the form attached hereto as Exhibit C, granting the relief requested herein and such other and further relief as may be just.

EXHIBIT A

HydroGen Owned Intellectual Property

HydroGen owns certain rights and manufacturing assets for the Phosphoric Acid Fuel Cell technology developed in the 1980s and early 1990s by Westinghouse. As part of the DOE-Westinghouse program, Westinghouse obtained a revocable, non-exclusive license to use all technology developed pursuant to the DOE sponsored program. In addition, Westinghouse undertook its own development of module designs and manufacturing plans, and constructed a manufacturing facility and working prototype module. During this manufacturing and prototype program, Westinghouse privately developed recipes, processes and plans for designing and manufacturing phosphoric acid fuel cells. That intellectual property, maintained by Westinghouse as trade secrets, has been transferred to HydroGen along with all of Westinghouse's rights to the technology developed under the DOE research and development program, and has since been maintained as closely held secrets. In addition, HydroGen has employed several of the former Westinghouse engineers who developed the technology, and has transferred their knowledge base to a new team of engineers.

Most of the HydroGen core intellectual property has been maintained as trade secrets, which are kept in the form of drawings, recipes, process descriptions and other writings in its files. Westinghouse transferred all of its intellectual property related to the PAFC program, including the trade secrets, to Environmental Energy Services, Inc (EESI), the predecessor company to Fuel Cell Corporation of America (FCA), on or about March 31, 1993 pursuant to a general assignment set forth in the asset purchase agreement. FCA/EESI maintained these trade secrets, until ultimately transferring the assets to HydroGen in the fall of 2001. HydroGen has kept, and intends to continue to keep, these secrets closely guarded, distributing them on a need to know basis only, and implementing strict confidentiality and non-use agreements when disclosure is necessary.

HydroGen continued the Westinghouse policy of using trade secrets as the principal mode to protect its intellectual property. As HydroGen makes improvements to the existing technology or develops new technology, HydroGen will re-evaluate this policy, and determine an optimal combination of patent and closely-held trade secret protection.

Although most of the core technology has been maintained as trade secrets, Westinghouse did apply for and receive patents from time to time. These were all subsequently assigned to the DOE. Most of the DOE patents have either expired or were allowed by the DOE to lapse. The DOE did, however, maintain four patents, two of which remain in effect today. On August 26, 2005, HydroGen LLC, the wholly owned subsidiary of HydroGen Corporation, entered into a patent license with the Department of Energy to license the four patents for its business operations (a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit ____). The DOE granted the license because it will promote the interests of the federal government and the public and provide incentive to the Company to bring the inventions to a practical application. The four DOE patents (including the two which have since expired) that are subject to the license are as follows:

Patent No.	Subject Matter of Patent	Expiration date
4978591	Corrosion Free Phosphoric Acid Fuel Cells	9/2009
4732822	Fuel Cell Acid Supply System	Expired 5/2006
4853301	Fuel Cell Plates with Skewed Process Channels	Expired 2/2006
5096786	Integral Edge Seal for Phosphoric Acid Fuel Cells	9/2009

The DOE patent license is irrevocable and exclusive to the Company except to the extent the government may require the Company to issue sublicenses to parties for health and safety needs. The license is royalty free. The company was obligated to, and did, spend not less than $1,000,000 in development of products using the patents during the first year of the license. The company may grant sublicenses to third parties with the permission of the DOE. The company committed that the products embodying the licensed inventions will be manufactured substantially in the United States. The company is obligated to provide various reports to the DOE about its development of products. The license may be terminated in whole or in part if the Company does not execute its development plan as required under the license, fails to make any required reports, breaches the agreement or the DOE determines that termination is necessary to meet requirements for public use as specified in federal regulations and those regulatory requirements are not being met by the Company.
